NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS.—A blanket invitation to school administrators, board members, parents, teachers, school nurses, physicians, psychologists and personnel officers to attend the first Ohio School Health Institute at Ohio State University from June 29 to July 2 was made by the institute sponsors. "Student health is receiving recognition as a factor in school success," Dr. J. H. J. Upham, president of the American Medical Association and dean of the university's college of medicine, said. "The problem involves the welfare of the individual student and also the effectiveness and efficient operation of the entire school program. Increasing attention is also accorded school health as an important part of the community health program, involving close cooperation among practitioners, educators, health officials and parents. Ohio State University offers this institute, one of the first of its kind in the United States, to help toward a better understanding of the problems." There will be exhibits loaned by the American Medical Association and supplemented by special school, public and personal health displays. Dr. Upham revealed. One of the principal speakers will be Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of The Journal of the American Medical Association. All phases of student health problems will be discussed.

Good news for many Ohio motorists was the official opinion of Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy that the plan of automobile insurance companies to return fifteen per cent of the premium to policy holders whose cars were not involved in accidents during the policy year is not prohibited under the general code of Ohio. The opinion was made at the request of Superintendent Robert L. Bowen of the state division of insurance. "Several insurance companies desire to adopt a 'safety experience plan,'" Mr. Bowen said in requesting the opinion. "The plan contemplates the attachment of an endorsement to bodily injury liability and property damage liability insurance policies issued to the owners of private passenger automobiles. The endorsement provides that the premium deposited with the insurance company is earned if the automobile is involved in an accident during the policy year, and that only fifty-five per cent of the premium is earned if the automobile is not involved in an accident, in which latter case the unearned portion of the premium will be returned to the insured." It was estimated that refunds to "no-accident" policy holders in Ohio will range from approximately $3.50 upward.

The state civil service commission has requested a $25,000 grant from the state emergency board with which to finance examinations for employees who will handle the distribution of unemployment compensation benefits during 1939. It was announced by Civil Service Commissioner Ralph W. Emmons. At the close of business June 1, a total of $71,514,293 had been paid into the fund, according to State Treasurer Clarence H. Kinsley, since the unemployment compensation commission was created in 1937. At the current rate of increase, the fund should total about $110,000,000 by January 1. It is thought that approximately $50,000,000 will be paid out in direct unemployment benefits next year. Nearly 4000 employees will be required to handle the disbursement and it is for them the new civil service examinations will be conducted, Mr. Emmons said.

James W. Stuber, state game management agent and well known author of articles dealing with wildlife and associated problems, is making a survey of the Miami Conservancy district north of Dayton to determine whether a 10,000 acre section could be given profitably as a state game refuge and propagation area, according to Conservation Commissioner Lawrence Woodwell. A preliminary report said that "the region is excellently suited for the breeding of waterfowl, pheasants, rabbits, prairie chickens, Hungarian partridge and grouse." A complete and detailed report on the entire area will be made by Mr. Stuber within a few weeks.

Sheriff Warns On Sale Stolen Stock

A new state law designed to curb the sale of stolen livestock, poultry and farm product, is now in effect, Sheriff George P. Henkel announced Monday.

The measure provides for compulsory registration by dealers of the names, addresses and automobile license numbers of the sellers, date of sale, number, kind, breed and quantity of stocks or produce sold. Such reports must be open to inspection up to six months after the date of sale. The law, enacted by the Ohio State Grange at its Cincinnati convention last fall, was enacted by the Ohio legislature after a series of livestock thefts in six southern and central Ohio counties, including Greene.

A penalty of $10 to $500 is provided by the law for failure to register sellers or for keeping false records. It also provides a fine of $50 to $500 for persons who enter land of another without the owner's consent and with intent to steal, and gives authorities the right to halt and question drivers of vehicles containing poultry, stock or farm produce.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Hold Open House

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Calvert, Selma, held open house Sunday, honoring their fiftieth wedding anniversary, on the farm where they have resided, the home of the parents of Mrs. Calvert, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Warner.

Several hundred friends, relatives and neighbors called during the afternoon and evening, expressing well wishes to the couple and honoring the event they celebrated.

Mr. Calvert came to Selma when eleven years old in 1870 from Delaware county, Pennsylvania. His elder brother, Reese Calvert, had already located in that community. T. L. Calvert, who returned to Pennsylvania for a visit and to his parents would not let him come back to Ohio. At home he took up telegraphy while taking more school work.

In 1883 he was offered a position as clerk in the Enool Hollingsworth general store and elevator in Selma. A year later he was offered the store and with his brother Reese Calvert, the business was operated for a number of years and was very profitable. T. L. disposed of his interest in the store in 1892 to his brother, Reese, and took up farming on the Warner farm.

Mr. Calvert became interested in Jersey cattle and was the first Madison township farmer to have a herd of registered stock. He found many buyers from other states for his breeding stock, one being B. F. Swift of Chicago. In 1896 he was appointed Secretary of Agriculture for Ohio, a position he held until 1909. From 1914 to 1919 he was Dairy and Food Commissioner in Ohio and from 1921 to 1924 was a member of the Ohio legislature from Clark county.

In 1885 the people of the Calvert community became interested in the use of a telephone and the Selma Telephone Co. was organized with sixteen subscribers, one of the first rural exchanges in the country.

Former Greene County Acting O. S. U. President

William McPherson, 74, a native of Xenia and a noted authority on chemistry, was appointed acting president of Ohio State University Monday. He was selected by the board of trustees.

It will mark the second time McPherson has served in the capacity of acting president of the university, having held the post after the death of Dr. William O'Leary Thompson.

He was born in Xenia in 1864, and is an uncle of Dr. C. C. McPherson, Xenia physician, and a brother of Mrs. Anna Barnett of Xenia. A son, William H., is a professor of chemistry at Oberlin College. He is the author of numerous text books on chemistry. He joined the university faculty in 1892, and retired about one year ago.

Western Farm Crops Retarded By Rain

W. R. Watt, who returned this week from an extensive motor tour through Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Minnesota, reports crops in these states have been retarded by unfavorable weather, especially an excess of rain.

Indiana and Illinois are yet trying to get their corn planted. In Missouri the wheat crop has suffered greatly from orange rust, a new enemy of that crop. The rust causes the heads to drop and wilt. In southern Kansas where farmers took advantage of favorable weather for an early corn crop the corn was shouder high. Nearly probably was a field where corn was still being planted with the only hope of a late fall making a crop possible.

Iowa was no better off than the other states yet Mr. Watt says he was impressed most with the crops in Minnesota. He toured the west with Arlo Anderson, Wrightville, Pa., and a representative of the Duro Journal, Chicago.

New Kansas Wheat Tests Low Grade

KANSAS CITY, MO., June 13.—Four cars of new wheat were received here today from Kansas points and all tested low grade, chiefly because of excessive moisture in the harvesting territory. Price on the wheat market dropped, however, as much as two cents a bushel in response to more reassuring crop news. Profit-taking as a result of Saturday's 5-cent a bushel advance accounted for some of the decline. Moisture content of the four cars today ranged from 15.1 per cent to 16.5. Test weights ranged from 52.3 to 54 pounds a bushel.

MINIMUM WAGE LAW PASSED BY CONGRESS

The South had its inning with Roosevelt New Deal leaders in Congress and won its point or there would have been no adjournment this week. The wage and hour law provides for a minimum rate of twenty-five cents per hour for a forty-four hour week the first year. Thirty cents for a forty-four hour week the second period and forty cents for a forty-four hour week thereafter, or not for seven years. The difference between seven and seventy years in a political game is hard to distinguish and the South knows that before the seven year period is reached no Democrat will be president or the law will be repealed on the demand of labor.

The unusual feature of the law is that it will not become operative for 120 days after being signed by the President. This gives Roosevelt time to dodge a signature before the August primaries when Democratic congressmen must face the music with the voter.

Large industry has not worried over the wage and hour bill as union wages far exceed that. When it comes to new wage scales for many lines labor cannot legally take exception to the rates set in this new law, regardless of the fact the rate may be low. No one can be prosecuted for refusing to pay a higher rate and this makes the minimum rate the maximum rate. Labor has all this to learn by experience. The Southern congressmen realize even twenty-five cents an hour is more than the average rate in the South at present but they also know that for the first period of the law it must be the maximum rate.

Labor leaders accepted the low rate feeling that in time the law can be amended for higher rates and to include farm labor as well as domestics.

WHERE WILL FUTURE TAXES COME FROM?

A well known Ohio newspaperman spent several days last week in Washington, D. C. and was a luncheon guest of two well-known southern senators much in the public print at this time. No gathering even in Washington would be complete without a discussion of taxes and where government revenue will come from in the near future.

Both senators were of the opinion that within the next five years the federal government will be compelled to provide for an occupational tax for every citizen, male and female, with no exemptions in any class. The present income taxes would still continue with probably higher rates and drop to $1,000 or less with most of the present exemptions eliminated.

While the federal government faces many new kinds of taxes to pay for the "Roosevelt frolic," Ohio must have more taxes. The state school foundation fund is now more than $10,000,000 overdrawn and will be at least fifteen million by January 1, 1939. Two different courts have held that candy is a food and not taxable under the sales tax law. If sustained by the Supreme Court the state loses $500,000 revenue from that source. Most of our new taxes now go for relief and still the clamor goes on for more revenue. We had the promise that liquor would provide the revenue for old age pensions but now the state must find new sources to get pension funds as much of the liquor revenues goes to the politicians who sell the liquor in the various counties. The state is already ridden with liquor inspectors that eat up the liquor profit that was originally intended for the old age pensions.

SUPER HIGHWAYS CAMPAIGN ISSUE

Senator Robert J. Bulkley's plan to erect a system of super highways across the country is looked upon as fine campaign publicity. It has made first page everywhere and has also hit some sarcastic comment in the southern press, and before it becomes a law, which it never will be in our time, it must have the support of southern congressmen and senators. The southern press in many instances point out that this is a year when senators must seek re-election, for that reason, most any bill makes publicity. Then to use relief money does not appeal to the south where relief is not and probably will not be a political factor. The suggestion of government finance by bonds to be paid by motorists paying toll falls flat in view of the fact that many states now use the automobile and the truck as the agency to collect gasoline taxes. In the south everything political lives off the gasoline tax and this comes home to people when the tax in several states is eight cents a gallon.

Another argument against the Bulkley plan is the road toll which some now call a tax on the "low-brows" for the benefit of the "high-brows."

Already, the south has shown its hand when Senator McKellar, Tenn., Dem., had the Bulkley bill transferred from the banking and currency committee to the committee on post roads. Senator McKellar also seeks a federal super-highway commission and this will block the Bulkley bill. Sentiment in both houses of Congress is against the toll idea and congressmen will not back the super highway plan when they can get federal money for districts by the pork-barrel route. Another argument against the bill is that we still have hundreds of thousands of miles of roads used by ordinary people that are not even graveled, let alone dust-proof. What chance has the average citizen using a super highway to cross a dozen states when he now must deny his family some of the conveniences of life to buy gasoline to reach his nearest trading point or the county seat to pay his taxes or purchase his liquor at a government store?

HAVE OUR FRIENDS DESERTED US ON TAX QUESTIONS?

Over a long period of years when ever tax matters come up or even an increase in salaries of school teachers we always had plenty of callers to protest "extravagance." Congress adjourns spending 20 billion dollars and has a deficit of 40 billion and some of those who begrudged a school teacher an increase seem to nod their head today in silent approval.

GUARANTY FOR DOROTHY RICKENBACKER

Congress has been in session nearly a year since the last election and following a congressional recount in a New Hampshire District, the present body last week declared a Republican seat vacant and voted to seat the Democratic candidate. One of the contentions at the recount was the absence of 34 ballots which the Republicans claimed had been counted by the election officials for the Republican candidate. How and where the 34 ballots vanished was the question but recounting ballots cast in New Hampshire months later in Washington makes many things possible. One thing was certain the Republican was kicked out and his Democratic opponent seated and given back pay at the rate of $10,000 a year for time he did not serve, in fact did not even spend the time in Washington.

Once again the wedding bells of a millionaire family will ring in the welcome ears of the Roosevelt household. Young John R. treads the church aisle soon with his bride, Miss Clark, from a wealthy banker's family in Boston. One thing must be certain the Roosevelt family has confidence enough in itself that a few million will not break the moral and social backbone of that family. For anyone else to have a million-well anger lurks there. Last year young Franklin R. entered the millionaire in Pont family in Delaware, the family that controls banks, automobiles, dyes, colors, war material, railroads, etc. Another member of the Roosevelt family is the wife of the manager of a Hearst newspaper at a figure slightly under the president's salary. Not so long ago the New Deal said Mr. Hearst owed the government several million in back income taxes. A few weeks ago another investigation brought forth the news that the government had over charged Mr. Hearst several million and he had a refund. Next result was the government collected a difference of some $600,000. Mr. Hearst was pleased. We suppose Uncle Sam had to be. Franklin D. and the son-in-law smiled and all was well on the Potomac. Several million said "horse feathers."

The reference last week as to the congressional vote in Clark county at the November election, 1936, that Alshire won by 24,217, should have been his total vote. This week we checked the returns at the Board of Elections in Springfield and find that Alshire, D., received 24,217 and Marshall 15,20 votes in Clark county. The city vote alone was as follows: Alshire 18,465 Marshall 11,171, the former leading by 7,294. Breaking down the rural vote in Clark county Alshire receiving 5,754 and Marshall, 4,748, again the former won out in the county by 1,011.

Judging from the returns it looks like Miss Margaret Baker, Clark county Republican leader evidently did not have a very close grip on the situation in 1936 for the Republican nominee. With Margaret having a hot contest in her own city and county with Mrs. Jeanette V. Rockel for Woman Committee in the Seventh District, Margaret has cut for herself quite a task to win her election and at the same time change 7,284 votes from New Deal to Republican. To the casual observer one wonders just where Marshall expects to find his primary vote. A glance at the Alshire vote is all that is necessary to cause glee in Democratic ranks and do the drum beating for the Marshall nomination.

Xenians have been having much sport the past few days while effort was made to find conviction before a jury for one supposed Columbus citizen who has been conducting the "number racket" in that city. The hardest task was to find a jury that had not been playing the numbers game. With the jury came humorous testimony as to who had and had not played the new fangled gambling game that has brought joy and glee in a few quarters and sorrow to hundreds of others who lost. The game has swept the nation. The jury disagreed on a seven for conviction to live for acquittal according to street reports. Other cases are yet to be tried.

Of course you heard Sen. Robert Bulkley, D., over the air Monday night, or if the radio pilot can be taken correctly, it was only the Senator's voice in what might be termed a "canned speech" electrically transcribed. The Senator seems to be much disturbed over WPA labor, election charges, and what will happen if the Democrats do not cut out the back-yard fence rumors about WPA, the New Deal, etc. Out in Iowa Harry Hopkins made an appeal to his home folks but they evidently did not take him at his word and Democrats by almost wholesale plotting downed the New Deal candidate at the Democratic primary. The Iowa Democrats must have decided to keep Sen. Gillette regardless of the fact he had been marked for slaughter by the New Deal from Roosevelt down to the precinct health officer.

Ginger Rogers in "Vivacious Lady"

When a staid young college professor meets and marries a Broadway showgirl things are bound to happen and so they do in "Vivacious Lady," the RKO comedy-romance co-starring Ginger Rogers and James Stewart, opening Friday, June 17, at the Regent theater for a week's entertainment.

In "Vivacious Lady," Stewart plays a shy young University professor of botany, son of the school's president, who goes to New York to rescue his cousin, James Allison, from a binge. At a night club he meets Ginger Rogers and forgets everything else. The feeling is mutual and when Jimmy returns to his home he has with him not only his cousin but a wife and then the fun starts when they attempt to break the news of their wedding gently. Benish Bondi, Frances Mercer and Charles Coburn head the supporting cast.

The Ohio Senator has a contest at the coming primary in the person of "Uncle" George White, who seeks to represent Ohio Democracy in the upper house. Reading between the lines we fear Bulkley was throwing a scare into the followers of White about all these political rumors that start everywhere but in New Deal circles. The Senator says there will be no politics with relief and WPA. This sounds good. We have state and federal civil service laws but we do not believe Bulkley can prove that the Democrats have even made attempt to follow the law and Ex-Gov. White knows what this means and how shallow Bulkley's radio speech proves to be. The press dispatches on Sunday and Monday reported that action on the part of State Administrator Watkins was necessary to divorce politics in WPA in Clark county. Two Democratic factions in that county have fought for the patronage in WPA, even becoming so intense that religious issues were raised. Moreover Bulkley might be investigation find out that the State Democrats are not over looking the fact that the Senator's millionaire family has drawn $100,000 of money for high rents for government departments in Cleveland. The contest is among Democrats and Sen. Bulkley might turn his nose to the ground to get the scent as to the report that all WPA and relief workers must have their names on the Democratic poll books at the August primary. Bulkley should investigate what is going on in his own party and then deposit his fee to the radio company and give his findings to Ohio citizens. He has started something which if he does not complete, the friends of Ex-Gov. White will bring to light. It is certain there are Democrats that will call the Senator's Monday night scare speech.

Down in Kentucky Gov. Chandler, who is a candidate for U. S. Senator, has to fight the New Deal in his own party. There the WPA and relief are the New Deal issues to defeat the Governor. WPA federal officials have been working in the open against the Governor, if Brady W. Stewart, head of the Chandler Campaign Committee is correct in his report to Roosevelt. WPA and relief voters will be compelled to vote for Sen. Bradley, a 100 per cent rubber stamp for the New Deal. Sen. Bulkley of Ohio says there is no politics in the New Deal PWA. Sen. Wheeler, Democrat, says there is, and that the Recovery bill should be earmarked but Roosevelt fights this as does Hopkins and of course Bulkley being a good rubber stamp for the New Deal, makes no mention of what his colleague Wheeler says. Will Ohio Democrats swallow the "canned speech" put out by Bulkley, Monday night? Who pays the radio company for the time devoted to political speeches for the New Deal?

The American Rolling Mill Co., with branches in Columbus, Zanesville and Ashland, Ky., the main plant being at Middletown, faces charges filed by NLRB, one of Roosevelt's Communist boards that makes a finding before the evidence is presented. It is charged the company took part in municipal elections in one or more towns, certainly a very serious charge. George M. Verity is one of the most public spirited men in the country and has always been active in good governments, especially where he has plants. He has given Middletown what few cities of the size could not afford to buy in the way of civic betterments and this is the cause the labor board charges against the company. To deliver a fixed verdict the NLRB has selected Cattsburg, Ky., as the place for the trial. Moscow would be more in keeping with the decisions of

U. S. Has One-Half World's Telephones

One of the differences in standard of living in this country as compared to those nations abroad is emphasized in a report on world-wide telephone development just made public by the Bell System.

A copy of the report received by W. M. Fryman, commercial manager for the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, shows that Ohio, with 1,100,000 telephones, has more than Italy and Australia combined, more than Russia, and nearly as many as Japan. Cedarville has 293 of the Ohio telephones.

With approximately 20 million telephones, the United States has about one half of the world's total. There is one telephone for every seven persons in this nation as against one to every forty inhabitants in Europe. In a list of 27 countries, Canada is second in telephones per 100 population, followed in the order named by New Zealand, Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland, Australia, Norway, Great Britain, and Germany. France is four steps below Germany, while Italy and Russia are near the bottom. Washington, D. C., has the highest development, with 37 telephones per 100 inhabitants and San Francisco is a close second.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for June 19
THE SUFFERING SERVANT

Read the story of the suffering servant in Isaiah 53:1-12. The servant is a type of Christ, who suffered for the sins of the world. He was despised and rejected of men, but he was faithful to his mission. He was crucified for our sins, but he rose again for our justification.

"A Christian who is a suffering servant is one who is willing to suffer for the sake of the gospel. He is one who is willing to be despised and rejected of men, but who is faithful to his mission. He is one who is willing to be crucified for the sins of the world, but who is faithful to his mission."

The suffering servant is a type of Christ, who suffered for the sins of the world. He was despised and rejected of men, but he was faithful to his mission. He was crucified for our sins, but he rose again for our justification.

Temperance Notes

An insurance journal said, "Brewers die about fifty per cent faster than the average man, and saloon-keepers die about seven times as fast."

If alcohol is good for the system, why do life insurance companies ask so particularly as to your use of it? Why do they have a "total abstinence class" which is an added benefit to the policy-holder who belongs to that class?

NEED CARE FOR PERFECT JELLY

Acid Content of Juice Is of Prime Importance.

By EDITH M. BARBER

IT WOULD be interesting, at least to me, to know what clever old-time housekeeper, perhaps in the still-room of a manor house, discovered that fruit juice and sugar when cooked together would jelly. We know that the time does not date back centuries, because sugar, the necessary factor, in the fine granulated form, has not been generally available until a comparatively recent time. Many must have been the experiments before more or less accurate recipes were developed.

The perfect jelly should be clear, firm enough to mold but not stiff. The results depend upon using the proper proportions of fruit juice and sugar. They also depend upon the amount of acid present in the juice. Not all fruits supply the proper amounts of pectin and acid. For this reason our grandmothers through the trial and error method limited the number of fruits for jelly. Strawberries and peaches for instance were reserved for canning and preserving. The standard proportions—1 cup of sugar to 1 cup of juice—were not always successful for other jellies. They usually work for current, green apples and green grapes. If fruit was overripe, however, this amount of sugar was too much and the result was a soft, syrupy mixture. This was sometimes prevented by combining the fruit juice with green apple or with green grape juice. This custom eventually resulted in the preparation for market of a concentrate of apple juice which we know as fruit pectin.

By the use of this fruit pectin in the proper proportions we are now able to make jelly of practically any flavor in a very short time. The short time of cooking preserves the fresh flavor of the fruit, and for this reason, pectin is sometimes used with fruit juices, such as currant, which will jelly without it.

Plum Jelly.
4 cups (2 lbs.) plum juice
7 1/2 cups (3 3/4 lbs.) sugar
1/4 bottle fruit pectin

Wash about four pounds of fully ripe plums. To prepare juice, crush fruit well without peeling or pitting, add one cup of water, bring to a boil, cover, and cook over a low flame ten minutes. Strain in double cheesecloth or one thickness Canton flannel and squeeze out juice. Measure juice into kettle, add sugar and stir well. Put over hot flame, bring to a boil, stirring occasionally. As soon as the mixture boils, stir in fruit pectin, bring to a hard rolling boil and continue stirring for just half a minute. Take from fire, skim quickly and pour at once into scalded jelly glasses. Cover with an eighth of an inch layer of paraffin. Yield—ten to eleven six-ounce glasses.

Sour clingstone plums make best jelly. If sweet plums or freestone prunes are used, substitute one-half cup strained lemon juice for an equal amount of prepared juice in this recipe.

Blackberry Jelly.
4 cups (2 lbs.) blackberry juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
8 cups (3 3/4 lbs.) sugar
1 bottle fruit pectin

Wash about three quarts of fully ripe berries. To prepare juice, crush well or grind the berries. Put berries in double cheesecloth or one thickness of Canton flannel and squeeze out the juice. Squeeze and strain juice, from 1 medium size lemon. Measure juice into kettle, add lemon and sugar, stir well. Put over hot flame, bring to a boil, stirring occasionally. As soon as the mixture boils, stir in the fruit pectin, bring to a hard rolling boil and continue boiling and stirring for just skim quickly, and pour at once into scalded jelly glasses. Cover with an eighth of an inch layer of paraffin. Yield—eleven to twelve six-ounce glasses.

Strawberry jelly may be made by the above method.

Test for Pectin.
Put one tablespoonful of hot juice into glass or cup. Add one tablespoonful of alcohol and stir once. Let stand two minutes. If a thick jelly which can be taken up on a spoon without breaking, one cup of sugar to one cup of juice may be used. If jelly forms, but breaks as it is taken up with the spoon three-fourths cup of sugar to each cup of juice should be used. If there is no jelly formation, the juice must be combined with sour apple juice or currant juice and retested.

Old Fashioned Jelly.
To obtain best results in jelly making, it is advisable to work with a small quantity of juice. Two quarts of juice is a sufficiently large quantity to handle at one time.

Measure juice, add sugar and stir until sugar is dissolved. Boil rapidly until jelly test is obtained. When two drops will hang side by side from a spoon which has been dipped into the boiling mixture, the jelly is ready to be skimmed and to be poured in clean, hot glasses. Pour hot paraffin immediately over the jelly to the depth of one-eighth inch. When cold cover with tin lids. © Bell Syndicate — WNU Service.
